Possible Future Decision Point:

Counsel Keith Wilson (Edmonton) who is one of the lawyers representing one of the convoy groups reached out to PLT members. Wilson indicated that he was working with the convoy leadership in an effort to get buy in from the truckers for a proposal to relocate the trucks from all residential streets in the downtown core and to consolidate them on Wellington Street and Elgin starting Monday. He indicated that the balance of the trucks would potentially camp out of town and the driver's could be shuttle bussed down to Wellington Street. Wilson said that he would update PLT on progress later today and a potential meeting is scheduled (TBD).

Based on the unknown number of trucks that they intend to consolidate and the current footprint we would have to explore alternatives to the Elgin/Wellington area. It is our understanding that these vehicles are currently part of the convoy positioned on the North/South streets in the core.

Update to follow.
